

2020-2021

FINANCING YOUR POST-SECONDARY EDUCATION

Scholarships

Bursaries

Awards

Loans

How will you finance your education? If you are not able to cover the costs, you may have to look at other ways of financing your studies.

There are four general types of financial assistance which are classified as follows:

- Award - Money granted to eligible students, usually on the basis of academic and/or other criteria.
- Bursary - Money usually given on the basis of financial need.
- Scholarship - Money usually given on the basis of academic standing.
- Loan - Money borrowed for temporary use with the intent that it will be repaid.

These are general definitions. Please note that not all donors make proper use of the above terms. Many Awards, Bursaries and Scholarships also take into account the school and community involvement of applicants.

Scholarships, bursaries and awards are usually non-repayable forms of funding, which means you don't have to return the money used for your education. Loans are known as repayable forms of funding which means that you will be expected to pay the money back.

Broaden your search for education dollars by exploring the sections in this document:

General Information
on Applying for Scholarships, Awards and Bursaries

How to Find Scholarship Information

- 1. LISTEN TO NOON ANNOUNCEMENTS! Mrs. Christiansen often advertises provincial and national scholarships this way.
- 2. Investigate scholarship/awards information provided by the post-secondary institution that you are applying to. (ex./ Saskatchewan Polytechnic, U of S, U of R, Lakeland, etc....) Most of these institutions have this information on their websites or in their academic calendars.
- 3. Spend time at noon hour, after school, or in a spare, looking through the red scholarship binder that is kept in the Student Services office. Scholarship information that is mailed to the school is kept in this binder. You may not sign this binder out, but if you find something that you would like to apply for, ask Mrs. Christiansen to make a copy for you. Note If you find the name of a scholarship in this binder but the information or application is not for the current year, simply Google the name of the scholarship or organization offering the scholarship and you will likely find information or an application current to the 2020 year.
- 4. Attend the L.P. Miller Grade 12 Local Awards Meeting that is held every year before the spring break. In early March, once we hear back from all of our local donors, Mrs. Christiansen will call all of the grade 12 students out of class to explain what local awards they may apply for. Most local award applications are due April 30th
- 5. Living Sky School Division Career Guidance Blog. Go to <http://mclurgcareerguidance.blogspot.ca/> An excellent blog. Full of good information. Many of the scholarships and much of the post-secondary information listed on this blog applies to students from all School Divisions or parts of Saskatchewan, not just those in the Living Sky School Division. If you have questions about any of the information on this blog, please see Mrs. Christiansen.
- 6. Other provincial, national & international scholarship websites:
 - <http://www.saskatchewan.ca/residents/education-and-learning/scholarships-bursaries-grants>
(Saskatchewan Scholarships)
 - <https://yconic.com/> (Search Engine for Canadian Scholarships)
 - <https://scholartree.ca/> (Search Engine for Canadian Scholarships)
 - <http://www.scholarshipscanada.com/> (Canadian Scholarship Website)
 - www.studentscholarships.org (North American scholarship opportunities)
 - <http://www.academicinvest.com/arts-careers/history-careers/all-scholarships-by-major> -(Academic Invest is a mixture of American, Canadian, and other international scholarships)
 - <https://www.disabilityawards.ca/> (Scholarships for post-secondary students with disabilities)

NOTE: IN THE ADDITIONAL RESOURCES SECTION OF THIS DOCUMENT PAGE 19-26, YOU WILL FIND A VARIETY OF OTHER SPECIFIC SCHOLARSHIP LISTINGS

7. Miscellaneous Tips

-Surf the Web (with a critical eye) If you know the name of a scholarship, often all you have to do is "Google it" and your online search may lead you to the actual application.

-Big corporations often offer scholarships. If you look on the website of big agricultural , manufacturing, business corporations, you may find a scholarship link

-If your parents work for a Union or larger company, they may offer scholarships to children of their employees. If you work for a larger company, they may offer scholarships to their employees.

-Churches and other organizations your parents may be affiliated with sometimes offer scholarships. (Many of these are already part of the local awards that will be presented to you at the Grade 12 Local Awards Meeting)

If you have questions about any of the scholarships you may find, please ask Mrs. Christiansen .

Scholarship Planning

1. Create a Personal Profile. This is like a resume that summarizes your achievements and goals. Include information on academics, athletics, school involvement, community involvement, awards that you have earned, accomplishments that you are proud of, volunteer work, employment history, strengths, abilities, special skills, and future goals.
Blank forms are available in the Student Services Office at L.P. that you can fill in to create this personal profile. Fill in this form, and make copies to give to the people who will be writing letters of reference for you.
2. Request letters of reference well in advance of your due date!!
(See the next page for more info on requesting letters of reference.)
3. Get organized. Start a folder or binder where you will keep the following:
 - a) A Calendar (to record all scholarship due dates)
 - b) Scholarship Applications
 - c) Photocopies of all applications that you mail out (This is a really good idea because many applications will ask similar questions, so you will be able to copy answers from one application onto others.)
 - d) Copies of your transcripts:

Many Scholarships applications will accept an “Unofficial – School Transcript” The Student Services Office at L.P. Miller School can provide you with an “Unofficial – School Transcript”. To ensure that your unofficial is ready on time, please give the Student Services Office a minimum of 3 days to process your request.

Some Scholarships application will require an “official transcript”. “Official Transcripts” come from the Ministry of Education. If you require an official transcript, you must request it from the Ministry of Education in Regina by filling in this online form: <https://www.k12.gov.sk.ca/etranscript/> It will likely take a bit of time for your transcript to arrive in the mail, so plan your time accordingly.

4. PRINT NEATLY OR TYPE. Scholarship committee members read many, many, applications. Make sure yours is accurate and easy to read. If your printing is not great, type it or find someone with neat printing to help you fill in your forms. Check spelling and grammar.
5. Watch for deadlines, and budget your time to meet those deadlines. Pay attention to “must be postmarked by” or “must be received by” dates.

The Scholarship Letter of Recommendation

Here's a list of pointers that could help any student in need of a letter of recommendation:

- Ask the most appropriate person available
Don't ask your cousin or your parents' dog-walker for a recommendation. Ask someone relevant to the scholarship for which you are applying. For example, if volunteer work is among the scholarship's criteria, ask your supervisor from the organization where you volunteered.
- Be punctual, considerate
Don't wait until the last minute and give the person helping you out a day or two to complete the letter. As soon as you know you are going to apply for a scholarship that requires a letter of recommendation, start putting the necessary documents together and select and ask your ideal author/supplier of this letter if they would be willing to help you out.
- All but write it for them
Give your recommender enough material so that it will be quick and easy for them to write this letter. . Provide them with a personal profile that outlines your strengths and abilities. Include information like school and community involvement, academic achievement, special skills, awards that you have received, accomplishments that you are proud of, employment history or volunteer work record, and your future goals.
- Mind your manners
In addition to giving your recommender ample time to provide you with a good letter of recommendation, be appreciative of their time and effort.

Write a Winning Scholarship Essay

BY LEAH HOBSON

Essay required. Do these words send chills up your spine, and give you a general feeling of nausea? They shouldn't. When applying for a scholarship, the essay section gives you a chance to show the evaluators a little more about you as a person, and set yourself apart from everyone else. Think of it as an opportunity to express your individuality, and give the evaluators one more chance to see just how much you deserve that scholarship.

However, writing the actual essay is never easy. The essay could be on a topic of your choice, an explanation of what you plan to do with the scholarship and how it will help you, or an exercise in creative writing. Whatever the subject, there are some specific rules you should follow in order to write an excellent scholarship essay:

BEFORE YOU START

Read the Directions – Nobody is going to award a scholarship to someone who can't even follow simple directions. Carefully read all instructions before writing anything. Pay attention to word length (500 words means 500 words), type style (single-spaced or double-spaced), and exactly what the question is asking.

Discuss your ideas – The idea for the perfect essay may not hit you right away. Talk it through with your family, friends, or teachers. If the essay asks you to write about yourself, have an informal chat with a friend, and talk about "remember when" situations. You may come across a great experience that you had totally forgotten about.

Choose your focus – It's always better to go for quality rather than quantity. Describe one event or experience in depth, rather than trying to squeeze many stories into one essay. Remember, less is more. Creativity and originality are always a plus, since the readers will probably have read several similar essays. However, above all, be yourself, and be honest.

WRITING THE ESSAY

Start off with a bang – Draw your reader into the essay by starting off in an interesting way. Never say what you're going to discuss, or repeat the original question. Instead of saying "I'd like to tell you about my dog Skippy" (which, by the way, isn't a great essay topic), try something like "As my golden retriever pulled me out of the freezing water, I remembered the first day I had seen Skippy ." Ok, so maybe you don't have a daring rescue story, but you get the point.

Don't Rehash- If you've already filled out other lengthy application forms, your essay isn't the place to repeat what you've already told the readers. It also shouldn't be a simple list of your accomplishments and endeavours. You've heard this before, but show, don't tell. Instead of saying "I'm an energetic, dedicated individual", say what you do that makes you so energetic and dedicated.

Watch your language - Make sure to use clear, concise language, with no slang. Your essay doesn't have to be as formal as an academic paper, but don't use the language you used in the note you passed last period.

AFTER THE FACT

Review, review, review. If time allows, put your essay away for a few days and then re-read it. It's much easier to find mistakes when you're looking at it with fresh eyes. Read it aloud – how does it sound? Have some else proof it, several if you can. NEVER rely on spell check.

Watch those deadlines. After you've proofed the essay and made your final changes, make sure you submit the application in plenty of time, with proper address and proper postage. If you miss the deadline because you wrote down the wrong address, you won't get another chance.

Remember, though the essay is important, it's only a part of your application. Other forms, supporting documents (like a transcript of your marks), and even an interview may be required. The key is to allow plenty of time to complete each section of your application carefully and thoroughly. Good luck!

Student Loans

Note to me: I updated the student loan section already in Sept 2020... the rest of document needs to be updated.

Research the Government Student Loans Program by going to the following websites:

<https://www.canada.ca/en/employment-social-development/services/education/student-loan.html>

<https://www.canada.ca/en/services/benefits/education/student-aid.html>

www.saskatchewan.ca/studentloans

If you click on the following link Student Financial Assistance Estimator You will find a program that will allow you to calculate your estimated student loan

- Note: For reference, you could view last year's handbook and instruction booklets for applying for Government Student Loans. Here are links to those booklets:
- 2020-21 Canada-Saskatchewan Integrated Student Loan Handbook
- General Instructions for 2020-2021

Other Loans

Governments aren't the only ones to offer student loans. Financial institutions (Banks and Credit Unions) also lend money to finance post-secondary schooling. These are regular consumer loans aimed at students. Investigate what your bank has to offer in the area of "student loans" Take Note: Interest rates may be higher since the rates are not set by the government, and repayment terms may be more aggressive than with government-sponsored loans. Also, interest accrues (builds up) on bank loans while you're in school, unlike most government student loans.
